Healthcare and technology come together in the Healthcare Innovation Hub

An inspiring environment that supports innovative healthcare entrepreneurs in rolling out their ideas

More than 20 partners collaborate on the healthcare for tomorrow here. Entrepreneurs and researchers, residents and healthcare professionals, teachers and students, policymakers and social partners. They bring the whole innovation chain together at this unique centre on the Leyweg in The Hague South West.

It is the place where healthcare technology is explored, developed, researched, experienced, taught, deployed and disseminated. And where we jointly increase our collective impact.

The Healthcare Innovation Hub acts as a link in a network chain of innovation labs, hubs and other partnerships in the city. We have more than 1,500 m2 in which to work on future-proof healthcare and support.

The entire healthcare innovation chain under one roof

This building will provide space for innovative first line care and welfare, applied research, learning, a healthcare technology demonstration home and assistance aids lending service, information and support for those wanting to work in healthcare, space for innovative start-ups and scale-ups, and space to meet.

The opening is planned for the second quarter of 2026.
